The competition is deemed to be that period of time beginning with the problem sponsor’s issuance of its problem packet (at the competition, not for pre-problem statements given prior to the competition), and will continue until after that team has presented its problem solution. Team coaches should limit discussion with their teams/any team from their school prior to the team presentation to “good luck” or similar encouragement! Once the competition begins, only properly registered team members may participate in the solution of the problem. Alternates are not part of the team and may not run errands for the team (food or supplies). Team members must make every effort to avoid any source of “outside” information. No input from outside the team (e.g. Internet, phone calls, satellite hook-ups, team coaches, other teams, etc.). Internet access is allowed if it is officially stated as acceptable in the problem category pre-problem statement.

No one may videotape, photograph, or capture in any other manner a team or team activity other than those teams from their school subject to the limitations outlined in this document (see section 5.0, oral presentations).

Each ASC competition team shall designate a faculty coach who will accompany the team to the competition. Once the competition begins, the coach’s role is limited to ensuring the competition rules are/ have been followed and life-safety issues. The team should have no further contact with the team coach, or any others, until after the team has presented its problem solution.

During the competition, no one shall be allowed to be in any team work room or have any contact with the team except the problem sponsor. An emergency is the only exception where the faculty coach or other appropriate personnel may enter the room.

4.0 Conflict of Interest:
Team members that have any specific prior knowledge of a sponsor’s competition problem (worked for the company, building on campus, friends that work for the company or on the project) must bring this to the attention of the Competition Manager and the problem sponsor in writing at the earliest opportunity. Refer to the problem categories pre-problem statement for additional information.

5.0 Competition Problem Statements and Conditions:
Each team will be presented with problem statement materials generated by the team sponsor. These materials represent the entire problem statement and scope of work. Questions, if any, may only be directed to the problem sponsor judges. It shall be the discretion of the judges whether a response is given to any question.

Each team must strictly adhere to the specific time frames, deadlines, schedules, locations or conditions set forth in the problem. Failure to follow any of these may be cause for rejection, reduction in points or even disqualification from the competition.
